PRESS CONFERENCE AND DEMONSTRATION

WSP, SPD, KCSO, and LoJack Announce Partnership to Combat Auto Theft

When: Tuesday, April 15, 2003 10 a.m.

What: A media event announcing the official launch of the LoJack Stolen Vehicle Recovery System (SVRS) in the Puget Sound region. The LoJack system is an innovative tool that pairs state-of-the-art technology and law enforcement resources to recover stolen vehicles. Learn about the SVRS from LoJack representatives and law enforcement personnel and participate in a demonstration by riding with ground and air units as they test track a LoJack-equipped vehicle. The demonstration will provide an excellent opportunity to interview and photograph troopers, officers, and deputies who are actively using the LoJack system. Media packets and fact sheets will be provided at the event.

Speakers: Washington State Patrol Deputy Chief Lowell Porter, Seattle Police Chief Gil Kerlikowski, King County Sheriff Dave Riechert, and LoJack President Ron Rossi

Where: King County International Airport (Boeing Field)
King County Sheriff's Office Special Operations Hangar
8600 Perimeter Road, Seattle WA 98108
